METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR TRUSTED BLADE DEVICE COMPUTING

Abstract of the Invention

A method and system are disclosed for performing trusted computing for blade devices, such as blade servers or other blade devices. The computing domain for the blade devices is managed by a chassis management logic module. Methods for performing blade capability authorization and optional blade authentication are provided. A method for performing blade device boot processing is also provided.